

NEW COLLECTION

ENCOSTA

Reflects on time, matter, and natural processes of transformation. The collection emerges from an organic gesture in which (im)perfection is not corrected, but embraced as part of its formal language. Undulations and irregularities are preserved, revealing the process and the memory of making.

Each piece originates from a solid mass, gradually reduced. As the sea acts upon the slope through continuous erosion, water and hands on the potter's wheel subtract material and guide form through movement. Positioned between permanence and erosion, exists as a transitional state where what remains is not only form, but trace.
